

Matthew 25: 7-10

When Jesus returns, there will be believers that will just get up and walk away. I believe that there are a lot of unprepared; their faith may be jeopardized. Their lamps will go out on them, this is a big warning sign. I would suggest filling your lamps with the oil of faith so that when Christ comes back you will not walk away. Keep your lamp filled at all times and have enough on hand.

Psalm 86:11

Have you ever been wearing something white and it never fails you spill something on it, or you brush up against something and you try your hardest to get the stain out. Well, cleaning up the sin in your life can be the same way. This can be a very slow process for some. Sometimes you do not want to be examined, you should let God do his work on you. God has the best and the most perfect solution and he is patient. Remember He did sacrifice his son to wash and get the stains out. He does not need "shout" to do this. He just needs you to surrender. God is not the author of confusion, he is the author of generosity.

Sometimes we are offered a great opportunity, that is a benefit to our lives, we sometimes think or call it a gift from God. We also feel that giddy feeling of excitement, but making the right choice takes courage. Through the power of prayer and making sure it is a positive move and not a negative move our hearts must be at peace. This makes any opportunity much easier to digest. So let your heart have peace and have courage and God will guide you the rest of the way.
